

Using the New Student Log

The new student log is designed to allow students to track their assigned diseases for each clerkship across their assigned sites.

For the most part, the “Current Selection” tab will allow you to manage your student logs. When you first enter the Student Log page, your current clerkship will already be selected, along with the first site you have added:

The screenshot shows the 'Current Selection' tab in the Student Log interface. The 'Filters' section includes a 'Rotation' dropdown set to 'EMERGENCY MEDICINE (2025-10B 10/28/2024-11/22/2024)' and a 'Your Sites: (Maximum: 1)' dropdown set to 'HVA ED' with a 'Remove Site' button. Below the filters is a large redacted area. To the right, a table header is visible with the title 'Student Log for' and a column labeled 'Disease'. Below the header, the text 'Abdominal Pain/Acute Abdomen' is partially visible.

If the clerkship has not yet started, you will receive a message letting you know so:

The screenshot shows the 'Current Selection' tab in the Student Log interface. The 'Filters' section includes a 'Rotation' dropdown set to 'EMERGENCY MEDICINE (2026-9A 06/30/2025-07/25/2025)' and a 'Your Sites: (Maximum: 1)' dropdown. Below the dropdowns, a message states: 'You cannot modify the log for this rotation because it has not yet started.'

Recording log entries for rotations is not possible until you have started them.

If you have not yet selected a site for the clerkship, you are given a chance to add a site before you can log the entries:

The listing of sites for a rotation is controlled by the educational coordinator for the clerkship. Please note that you are allowed a maximum number of sites per rotation. The number is indicated under “Your Sites” in the filter menu.

Once you have selected the site, you will be given a chance to record log entries for that site/rotation:

Two methods are available for logging your knowledge of each disease: “Clinical Learning Environment” and “Alternative Method”. When the log entry can be covered via direct contact with patients, Clinical Learning Environment should be check. If you did not have a chance to fulfill the requirement for a diseases in a clinical environment, you must use alternative methods of obtaining the knowledge behind each disease. Please note that, in case of multiple sites, the entries are cumulative, in that having obtained knowledge on a disease on one site satisfies the requirement to obtain that knowledge. The column “Requirement Met” displays the information is the knowledge was entered on a separate site.

To log the entries, check the appropriate boxes:

In the event that the deadline has passed, you may request the log entries for a rotation to be opened for a single day by contacting the educational coordinator for that rotation. After considering the circumstances that may have led to the delinquency, the coordinator can open the entry for that day. Please note that in such cases, the entry will only be made open until midnight that day.

The “PCM3 Mentor Log” tab has, with the exception of aesthetics, remained the same as it was before:
